Hospice and Palliative Care

Hospice vs. Palliative Care, Similar but Different

Palliative Care	Hospice Care
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Focuses on relief from physical suffering. The patient may be being treated for a disease or may be living with a chronic disease and may or may not be terminally ill.• Addresses the patient's physical, mental, social, and spiritual well-being, is appropriate for patients in all disease stages, and accompanies the patient from diagnosis to cure.• Uses life-prolonging medications.• Uses a multi-disciplinary approach using highly trained professionals. Is usually offered where the patient first sought treatment.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Available to terminally ill patients.• Makes the patient comfortable and prepares the patient and the patient's family for the patient's end of life when it is determined treatment for the illness will no longer be pursued.• Does not use life-prolonging medications.• Relies on a family caregiver and a visiting hospice nurse. Is offered at a place the patient prefers such as in their home; in a nursing home; or occasionally, in a hospital.

Home Health Care

Home health care is a wide range of health care services that can be given in your home for an illness or injury.

Home health care is usually less expensive, more convenient than and just as effective as care you get in a hospital or skilled nursing facility (SNF). Home health care may include the following services: skilled nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, social services, home health aides, nutritional services and infusion services.

- The Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP) is a federally funded program that provides eligible Ohioans assistance with their home energy bills. This one-time benefit is applied directly to the customer's utility bill or bulk fuel bill. The amount of your benefit will vary and is dependent upon federal funding levels, how many people live with you, total household income, and the primary fuel you use to heat your home.
- Percentage of Income Payment Plan (PIPP+) is a long-term solution to maintaining home energy services. The program helps income eligible households maintain their gas and electric services by paying their utility company a percentage of their household income. Eligible households pay 6% of their monthly income or $10 a month (whichever is greater) to their electric and gas utilities. Customers residing in all electric homes pay 10% or $10 (whichever is greater). To be eligible for PIPP+, customers must have a household income at or below 150 percent of the federal poverty guidelines.
- Winter Crisis program runs from November 1st through March 31st annually. Eligible households in emergency situations may qualify to receive (once per heating season) up to $175 in payment assistance to help maintain, restore, transfer or initiate their gas or electric utility services. In addition, those with 25% or less supply of bulk fuel may also qualify to receive up to $750 in assistance. The program also helps to pay for heating system repairs in limited situations.

- Center for Education and Employment Opportunities (CEEEO) provides employment readiness and placement, computer training.
- Financial literacy classes including budgeting, banking basics, insurance basics, loans and credit recovery, and owning a home.

Hospice and Palliative Care

Hospice vs. Palliative Care, Similar but Different

Palliative Care	Hospice Care
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Focuses on relief from physical suffering. The patient may be being treated for a disease or may be living with a chronic disease and may or may not be terminally ill.• Addresses the patient's physical, mental, social, and spiritual well-being, is appropriate for patients in all disease stages, and accompanies the patient from diagnosis to cure.• Uses life-prolonging medications.• Uses a multi-disciplinary approach using highly trained professionals. Is usually offered where the patient first sought treatment.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Available to terminally ill patients.• Makes the patient comfortable and prepares the patient and the patient's family for the patient's end of life when it is determined treatment for the illness will no longer be pursued.• Does not use life-prolonging medications.• Relies on a family caregiver and a visiting hospice nurse. Is offered at a place the patient prefers such as in their home; in a nursing home; or occasionally, in a hospital.

Hospice and Palliative Care

Hospice vs. Palliative Care, Similar but Different

Palliative Care	Hospice Care
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Focuses on relief from physical suffering. The patient may be being treated for a disease or may be living with a chronic disease and may or may not be terminally ill.• Addresses the patient's physical, mental, social, and spiritual well-being, is appropriate for patients in all disease stages, and accompanies the patient from diagnosis to cure.• Uses life-prolonging medications.• Uses a multi-disciplinary approach using highly trained professionals. Is usually offered where the patient first sought treatment.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Available to terminally ill patients.• Makes the patient comfortable and prepares the patient and the patient's family for the patient's end of life when it is determined treatment for the illness will no longer be pursued.• Does not use life-prolonging medications.• Relies on a family caregiver and a visiting hospice nurse. Is offered at a place the patient prefers such as in their home; in a nursing home; or occasionally, in a hospital.

Hospice and Palliative Care

Hospice vs. Palliative Care, Similar but Different

Palliative Care	Hospice Care
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Focuses on relief from physical suffering. The patient may be being treated for a disease or may be living with a chronic disease and may or may not be terminally ill.• Addresses the patient's physical, mental, social, and spiritual well-being, is appropriate for patients in all disease stages, and accompanies the patient from diagnosis to cure.• Uses life-prolonging medications.• Uses a multi-disciplinary approach using highly trained professionals. Is usually offered where the patient first sought treatment.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Available to terminally ill patients.• Makes the patient comfortable and prepares the patient and the patient's family for the patient's end of life when it is determined treatment for the illness will no longer be pursued.• Does not use life-prolonging medications.• Relies on a family caregiver and a visiting hospice nurse. Is offered at a place the patient prefers such as in their home; in a nursing home; or occasionally, in a hospital.

Behavioral Health Intensive Outpatient Programs & Partial Hospitalization Programs

Partial hospitalization programs, which are commonly referred to as PHP, provide the most intensive, structured, level of non-residential, non-inpatient care. Similarly, Intensive outpatient programs, commonly referred to as IOP provide the same structured program however is typically less hours per day. The difference between PHP and IOP is the frequency of days and hours that the program runs and whether the program is housed within a hospital setting.
