Hospice and Palliative Care

Hospice vs. Palliative Care, Similar but Different

Palliative Care	Hospice Care
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Focuses on relief from physical suffering. The patient may be being treated for a disease or may be living with a chronic disease and may or may not be terminally ill. • Addresses the patient’s physical, mental, social, and spiritual well-being, is appropriate for patients in all disease stages, and accompanies the patient from diagnosis to cure. • Uses life-prolonging medications. • Uses a multi-disciplinary approach using highly trained professionals. Is usually offered where the patient first sought treatment. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Available to terminally ill patients. • Makes the patient comfortable and prepares the patient and the patient’s family for the patient’s end of life when it is determined treatment for the illness will no longer be pursued. • Does not use life-prolonging medications. • Relies on a family caregiver and a visiting hospice nurse. Is offered at a place the patient prefers such as in their home; in a nursing home; or occasionally, in a hospital.

Home Health Care

Home health care is a wide range of health care services that can be given in your home for an illness or injury. Home health care is usually less expensive, more convenient than and just as effective as care you get in a hospital or skilled nursing facility (SNF). Home health care may include the following services: skilled nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, social services, home health aides, nutritional services and infusion services.

Hospice and Palliative Care

Hospice vs. Palliative Care, Similar but Different

Palliative Care	Hospice Care
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Focuses on relief from physical suffering. The patient may be being treated for a disease or may be living with a chronic disease and may or may not be terminally ill. • Addresses the patient’s physical, mental, social, and spiritual well-being, is appropriate for patients in all disease stages, and accompanies the patient from diagnosis to cure. • Uses life-prolonging medications. • Uses a multi-disciplinary approach using highly trained professionals. Is usually offered where the patient first sought treatment. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Available to terminally ill patients. • Makes the patient comfortable and prepares the patient and the patient’s family for the patient’s end of life when it is determined treatment for the illness will no longer be pursued. • Does not use life-prolonging medications. • Relies on a family caregiver and a visiting hospice nurse. Is offered at a place the patient prefers such as in their home; in a nursing home; or occasionally, in a hospital.

Home Health Care

Home health care is a wide range of health care services that can be given in your home for an illness or injury. Home health care is usually less expensive, more convenient than and just as effective as care you get in a hospital or skilled nursing facility (SNF). Home health care may include the following services: skilled nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, social services, home health aides, nutritional services and infusion services.

Hospice and Palliative Care

Hospice vs. Palliative Care, Similar but Different

Palliative Care	Hospice Care
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Focuses on relief from physical suffering. The patient may be being treated for a disease or may be living with a chronic disease and may or may not be terminally ill.• Addresses the patient’s physical, mental, social, and spiritual well-being, is appropriate for patients in all disease stages, and accompanies the patient from diagnosis to cure.• Uses life-prolonging medications.• Uses a multi-disciplinary approach using highly trained professionals. Is usually offered where the patient first sought treatment.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Available to terminally ill patients.• Makes the patient comfortable and prepares the patient and the patient’s family for the patient’s end of life when it is determined treatment for the illness will no longer be pursued.• Does not use life-prolonging medications.• Relies on a family caregiver and a visiting hospice nurse. Is offered at a place the patient prefers such as in their home; in a nursing home; or occasionally, in a hospital.

Hospice and Palliative Care

Hospice vs. Palliative Care, Similar but Different

Palliative Care	Hospice Care
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Focuses on relief from physical suffering. The patient may be being treated for a disease or may be living with a chronic disease and may or may not be terminally ill. • Addresses the patient’s physical, mental, social, and spiritual well-being, is appropriate for patients in all disease stages, and accompanies the patient from diagnosis to cure. • Uses life-prolonging medications. • Uses a multi-disciplinary approach using highly trained professionals. Is usually offered where the patient first sought treatment. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Available to terminally ill patients. • Makes the patient comfortable and prepares the patient and the patient’s family for the patient’s end of life when it is determined treatment for the illness will no longer be pursued. • Does not use life-prolonging medications. • Relies on a family caregiver and a visiting hospice nurse. Is offered at a place the patient prefers such as in their home; in a nursing home; or occasionally, in a hospital.

Home Health Care

Home health care is a wide range of health care services that can be given in your home for an illness or injury. Home health care is usually less expensive, more convenient than and just as effective as care you get in a hospital or skilled nursing facility (SNF). Home health care may include the following services: skilled nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, social services, home health aides, nutritional services and infusion services.

Offers a bonus for military service since October 7, 2001. Eligible veterans or active duty service members may receive $100 for each month up to a maximum of $1,000. Apply online.

Veterans Aid and Attendance Program

Available to wartime veterans and their spouse with limited income. A veteran who needs help with 2 or more ADLs, is bedridden, is in a nursing home due to a mental or physical incapacity or have eyesight that is limited to a corrected 5/200 in both eyes, would be eligible. The benefit is designed to provide financial aid to help offset the cost of long-term care. Contact your local veterans service commission.

VA Home Loans

VA provides grants to Servicemembers and Veterans with certain permanent and total service-connected disabilities to help purchase or construct an adapted home or modify an existing home to accommodate a disability. Two grant programs exist: The Specially Adapted Housing (SAH) grant and the Special Housing Adaptation (SHA) grant.

- Specially Adapted Housing (SAH) Grant: SAH grants help Veterans with certain service-connected disabilities live independently in a barrier-free environment. SAH grants can be used in one of the following ways:
 - Construct a specially adapted home on land to be acquired
 - Build a home on land already owned if it is suitable for specially adapted housing
 - Remodel an existing home if it can be made suitable for specially adapted housing
 - Apply the grant against the unpaid principal mortgage balance of an adapted home already acquired without the assistance of a VA grant
- Special Housing Adaptation (SHA) Grant: SHA grants help Veterans with certain service-connected disabilities adapt or purchase a home to accommodate the disability. You can use SHA grants in one of the following ways:
 - Adapt an existing home the Veteran or a family member already owns in which the Veteran lives
 - Adapt a home the Veteran or family member intends to purchase in which the Veteran will live

- Help a Veteran purchase a home already adapted in which the Veteran will live
